A Doctor Who Refused a Fortune.

Dr. Gower, of Brighton, carried in his pocket a competency for life when he left the house on Walsingham terrace with the knowledge of Parnell's death; for Parnell died at midnight, and the doctor could have realized a fortune by selling the exclusive news of the event to any of the richer papers in London or New York.

It was so when Gambetta died at 5 in the morning. At midnight he was pronounced convalescent. The death watch of reporters was relaxed. Yet one of them, a Frenchman, member of a small Parisian news agency, came out of a wine shop at early morning and saw a maid servant running across the grass.

"The master is dead," she called to him. He stood there in great perplexity. To whom should he sell the news? He hesitated between the Paris, London and New York papers. He finally cabled thus, "Gambetta died at 5 this morning." The dispatch reached a New York office at ten minutes before 2, there being five hours difference between Paris and New York. Half a page of accompanying matter was given to the compositor, and at twenty minutes past 2 the whole story was on its way to the stereotypers.

The reporter is still living on the proceeds of his "beat," and the sensation of Gambetta's death was nothing to that of Parnell.—New York Truth.

They Eat as Dickens Told Them.

A good story is told at one of the hotels here about some of the English divines who are in the city in attendance at the Methodist ecumenical council. It was noticed that at the hour set down for dinner on the card posted in each room giving the rules of the house these English preachers would gather about the doors of the dining room and when they were opened would make a wild rush inside, and to seat themselves hastily at the first table they reached and to begin to eat as quickly as possible.

The landlord was puzzled to know the cause of this strange conduct on the part of his foreign guests. Inquiry developed the fact that these reverend gentlemen had before coming over posted themselves on American customs by reading Dickens' "American Notes" and "Martin Chuzzlewit." The scene in the latter descriptive of the effect of the hotel dinner going causing everybody to quit whatever he was doing and make a rush for the dining room lest he should fail to get any dinner they took as gospel truth and were governing their own conduct accordingly.—Washington Cor. Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Parnell's Brother.

According to an Atlanta paper a seedy looking man, not quite fifty and wearing a discouraged and colorless slouch hat, with a suit to match, stood before the bulletin boards in Atlanta the other day to get a glimpse of dispatches about the death of Charles Stewart Parnell. The man was John Parnell, a brother of the Irish leader, who has spent the latter years of his life tending fruit trees on a little farm seventy-five miles from Atlanta. "I cannot believe that he is dead," said he. "The only thing that makes me believe the report is the statement that he died suddenly. There were twelve children in our family, six of whom are dead, and every one of the six died suddenly. Our sister Fanny, who died last, was found dead in bed. Charles, and in fact all of us, are subject to attacks of nervous prostration, and if he is dead this must have caused his death. He loved us all, and but a short time ago he wrote me a most affectionate letter."

"German Syrup"

Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines Co., Miss.

THE INDIAN SOLDIERS.

A year ago the War Department conceived the idea of enlisting Indians in the military service. Recruiting officers were sent to Indian reservations to explain to the noble red man the advantages to him of becoming a soldier and serving Uncle Sam in the capacity of fighters. Several companies were organized, mostly cavalry, as the Indians manifested a decided preference for that branch of the service. One of those Indian companies is stationed at Fort Whipple, Arizona. An army paymaster visited the barracks at that place a few days ago and paid the troops stationed there. It was the first time the Indians had money since they entered the army and they proceeded at once to expend it in purchasing fire water. This their uniforms, which are the regulation army style, enabled them to do. A few drinks of Fort Whipple whisky stirred up the fighting propensities of the Apaches, who composed the Indian military company, and they started on the war path. They went for the scalps of the white soldiers and seriously injured several of them. They attempted to get their arms and ammunition and had they succeeded the result can only be imagined. They were as blood-thirsty and ferocious as when led by Geronimo, they left a trail of blood through the Territory, massacring men, women and children, indiscriminately.

The War Department has now learned that if the Indians have opportunity to get drunk they will avail themselves of it and that when under the influence of liquor they are more dangerous to white troops than when on the war path in their native haunts, as they wounded more soldiers in the melee at Fort Whipple than when fighting under Geronimo.

POOLED THEIR ISSUES.

It is stated upon what is said to be "good authority," that President Harrison and Secretary Blaine have reached an agreement on the nomination for President. Attorney General Miller, noticing that the relations between the President and Premier were somewhat strained, undertook to bring about an understanding and succeeded. By the terms of the agreement Mr. Blaine is to remain in the Cabinet and keep quiet. The Maine Republicans are to elect their delegates without interference from Federal officials and if they so decide Mr. Blaine's name is to be presented to the National Convention. Blaine's friends are not to interfere in the selection of delegates in Indiana, and the President is not to say or do anything personally to secure the delegation from that State. Both gentlemen are in the hands of their friends, and the ardent supporters of each are pledged to the other in the event of a nomination.

This is all very nice, but Republicans outside of Maine and Indiana may desire to have something to say on the subject. There may be other candidates in the field and neither the President nor his Secretary may be able to control the convention. Party ties are not very strong at present, and as Blaine and Harrison are both gold men, there may be free coinage Republicans, who are not man worshippers, who will have something to say about the nomination.

WHEAT DAMAGED IN DAKOTA.

In North Dakota the wheat crop was unusually heavy this season, but for lack of facilities for threshing it much of it is being ruined. In Nelson county it is estimated that there are 12,000 acres of wheat yet in the shock and covered three inches deep with sleet and snow. In the vicinity of Karlopolis about three-fourths of the wheat crop is snowed under. Eight inches of snow have fallen and the wheat will be worthless, except for pig feed. In McLean county a rain storm set in and was followed by snow, which fell for two days and nights. About half the wheat crop is still in the shock and it is thought it will have to remain there all winter.

At this season of the year it freezes so hard in North Dakota at night, that the sun does not thaw out the frost in the day time, so that the wheat will remain frozen until Spring, in the shock, and by that time be comparatively worthless. Though the grain crop was the best ever produced in the State fully one-fourth of the entire product will be worthless. The loss will be severely felt by the farmers, who have been working at a loss for years in consequence of unfavorable seasons, and expected to realize handsomely from this season's crop as breadstuffs are in demand in Europe and bring good prices.

Congressman Mills of Texas, now at Washington, publishes a card denying the statement that in the event of his election as Speaker he would organize the House so as to obstruct silver legislation. He says he has had no conference with any silver men in New York in reference to the organization of the House.

BY TELEGRAPH.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

THE MINING CONGRESS.

Senator Stewart Delivers an Address. DENVER, Col., November 18.—The dedication of the El Dorado Mining Stock Exchange building, and the opening of the First National Mining Congress, was celebrated here to-day. This morning there was a street parade, in which miners and all interested in mining took part. There were also floats, bearing mining machinery in motion on a great many tableaux, indicative of the important features of mining. At the dedication there were speeches by President Taylor of the Mining Exchange, Mayor Rogers of Denver and others. All the speakers advocated the free coinage of silver.

In the afternoon the Mining Congress opened at the People's Theatre with ex-Governor Tabor in the chair. Delegates from 33 States and Territories reported. The greater part of the session was occupied by Senator Stewart of Nevada, who delivered a long address upon the silver question. He urged the Congress about resolutions that would compel the National House of Representatives to pass laws restoring silver to a parity with gold. Resolutions favoring the coinage of the American product only, the Senator said, would not obtain 20 votes in the Assembly. The gold ring has repudiated silver and they have reduced the issue of commercial currency to the narrow limits of gold. As a consequence the farmers are growing poorer and the history of the bank failures showed their circulation was not enough to keep the banks in reserve funds. Why should there be hard times with twenty years of peace? Why should times be worse than at any other time in a century? Want of money is the cause.

Wholesale Cattle Stealing.

MISSOURI, November 18.—For upwards of fifteen years a number of cattlemen of this county have suffered extensively by the loss of cattle and hogs at the hands of thieves. This disappearance of cattle off the ranges was a regular thing. Several wealthy cattlemen a few months ago employed the Lawson Agency to work up the case for them. Lawson sent for two of his men, one of whom got employment with Julian Lamerie, who has been arrested several times for complicity in cattle thefts, but always managed to escape conviction. The result of their work was partially made known yesterday morning by the arrest of Lamerie on three charges of grand larceny in stealing hogs and cattle. This afternoon Lawson drove into town with four of Lamerie's former employees under arrest. It is stated the men have confessed. Lamerie will have a hearing on December 2nd, and in the meantime he is on bonds.

The Chinaman Must go.

ST. PAUL, November 18.—A Pioneer Press special from Anaconda, Montana, says: Labor organizations in Butte, Missoula, Great Falls and other cities in Montana have commenced a strong fight against the Chinese. All members of various unions will not patronize Chinese and agree to boycott all merchants, saloon men, restaurant keepers, hotel men and others who employ Chinese in any way. Heads of families are requested not to employ Chinese as cooks or servants. The fight promises to be a hard one. There are over 4,000 Chinese in Montana and 1,600 in Butte alone.

A Church Deacon Charged With Illegal Voting.

MODESTO, November 18.—To-day Rev. H. C. Gillingham, recently suspended from the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, swore to a complaint charging James Thompson, one of the church deacons and leading witness for the prosecution in the trial, with fraudulent voting at the irrigation district election in April, 1890. The complaint alleges that Thompson knowingly voted while not a resident of the district. The warrant has not yet been served as the constable was unable to find Thompson. He is a prominent farmer seven miles from Modesto and is a man of means. Other suits are threatened as the outgrowth of the church trial.

The Insurgents Fortifying.

RIO JANEIRO, November 18. From dispatches received to-day it is learned that the insurgents are fortifying the City of Rio Grande and making preparations for repelling any advances made on the place by the forces of Fonseca. The Government has ordered troops to proceed to the City of Deodoro, the Capital of the Province of Santa Catharina, forty miles southeast of Rio Janeiro. It contains the palace of the President of the Province and the arsenal, and is defended by several forts.

The Charleston Sails for Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, November 18.—The Navy Department has received information of the sailing of the United States steamer Charleston yesterday from Yokohama, Japan, to Honolulu, Sandwich Islands. It is said at the Navy Department that it has been the intention to relieve the Charleston from duty on the Asiatic Station, as soon as the Lancaester arrived, and believed the latter vessel which went around Africa, will soon reach China.

Fish Commissioner Mills Doing Good Work.

CARSON, November 18.—Fish Commissioner Mills has gathered 800,000 eastern brook trout spawn in Nevada streams for the purpose of restoring our waters and assisting the California Commission. Half of the catch goes to California. Deputy Fish Commissioner Byron Close and E. W. Hunt of California have already made six trips and will make a few more to bring the catch up to a round million. When the eye appears in the spawn transportation to California will take place. Commissioner Mills estimates the hatching at ninety-eight per cent.

A Woman and Her Revolver.

LONDON, November 18.—While the steamer Mongolian, which sailed from Montreal November 3d, was passing Londonderry, bound for the Irish Sea, Mrs. Mason, the stewardess, rushed on deck, revolver in hand, and fired three shots at Purser Stewart, who was on the saloon deck. Two bullets struck the purser. Some mystery is attached to the affair. No reason is given for Mrs. Mason's attempt to shoot the purser, and when the Mongolian arrived at Liverpool she was permitted to leave the vessel unmolested. The wounds inflicted upon the purser are serious.

Transportation Being Arranged.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 18.—The Southern Pacific Company has received assurances from the Chicago and Northwestern Railway that it will participate in a fifty-dollar rate for either or both of the national political conventions if they should be held in San Francisco. As the Union Pacific has made the same promise there is at least one line open for delegates and alternates at the rate desired. Vice President Crocker said when the matter was left to the Trans-Continental Association he felt sure it would be voted down.

The National Union Company.

MINNEAPOLIS, November 18.—A special from Aberdeen, S. D., says it is learned that the business department of the Alliance in 22 States, has united with the leading business men of New York City, and formed a company called the National Union Company, with large means at its command. It is the aim of the new organization to buy out a merchant in every trade center of importance, stock him up with everything he wants in the line of general everyday goods demanded by farmers, and make him local manager of the concern.

The Newark Sails.

BOSTON, November 18.—The U. S. cruiser Newark sailed to-day. Her destination was not announced.

Storm Predicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 18.—The Signal Service predicts rain in northern Nevada to-night and to-morrow.

THE GOLD CURE MAN.

Dr. Leslie E. Keeley and His Interesting Secret.

Few men have the same degree of newspaper notice as Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, of Dwight, Ill. He is at the head of a company running about twenty institutions in various parts of the country, established for the treatment of inebriates and persons similarly diseased. The treatment followed remains a secret with Dr. Keeley. It is known as the biobloride of gold cure, and is applied by means of hypodermic injections and draughts. Great public interest, one need not say, is manifested in Dr. Keeley and his operations, rendering an excellent portrait and a sketch of the man most welcome.

The doctor is of Irish extraction. His early years were spent in St. Lawrence County, New York. He is a well educated man and a graduate in medicine. In the war he was an army surgeon, and was interested in the study of inebriety, which he became convinced was a physical disease and accordingly to be treated as such. At the close of his experience in the army, he settled at Dwight, Ill. where he continued experiments, resulting in the announcement of that, after twenty years of laborious application to the task he had set himself to accomplish, he had discovered a cure for drunkenness.

Dr. Keeley is a well-built man, over six feet high. He is a courteous and affable person, but his appearance and manner suggests the strong decision and endurance which one acquainted with his career would naturally expect to see in him.

A Paris dispatch says 35,000 coal miners are now on a strike in France, and a majority of those now at work will doubtless join the strikers.

THE WOMAN'S GUILD.

Grand Opening of the Entertainment—Handsome Decorations and Beautiful Tableaux.
The opening of the Kirmis given by the Woman's Guild at the Pavilion last night was a brilliant social success, and from the size and liberality of the crowd in attendance was undoubtedly a financial success. The Pavilion was handsomely and tastefully decorated with bunting. On the wall at the end of the hall opposite the entrance in large prominent letters was the word "welcome." A temporary stage at the end of the hall with crazy quilt curtains looked both unique and original. The booths around the hall and a large number of evergreen decorations added to the beauty of the scene.

THE BOOTHS.

The prettiest and most attractive booth was that called Autumn, presided over by Mesdames Lemery and Roff and the Misses Bacon, Ferdie Lord, Annie Martin and Lulu Lewis.

The "fish pond" was presided over by the Misses Angel, Manning and Hardee. The booth was suggestively decorated with fishing nets and tackle.

The candy booth was rendered especially charming. There could be found a rare combination of sweetness. Newly-made candies of delicious flavor covered the counter. The Misses Bessie Chambers and Lola Thoms made most successful proprietresses.

The fancy booth was presided over by Mesdames Pluniger, Perry and Bray. Many beautiful articles were found here, and the prospective Christmas buyer could find almost anything desired for Christmas gifts.

The lemonade stand was attended to by the Misses MaLotte, Lewis and Becker.

The bag booth was presided over by Mrs. Stewart and Miss Emi Fish.

The programme was excellently rendered, and a large and appreciative audience greeted the several tableaux with applause.

TABLEAUX.

The months of the year was a charming picture, and each month was suggestively and uniquely represented.

The days of the week were represented by seven small children; six girls and a boy.

This was followed by the New Year driving out the old.

St. Patrick's day was rapturously endorsed. It was represented by six young ladies, who executed a number of lively Irish dances that would have done credit to professionals.

The rainy day was one of the gems of the evening. It was opened with a song by Mrs. B. F. Layton. The sadly sweet strains of the music prepared the audience for the sweet picture that was presented when the curtain was drawn aside. Three groups of tiny children, drawn together in shivering fellowship, with umbrellas and gossamers, called vividly to one's mind the thought of the typical rainy day.

April Fools' day came next and was especially pleasing.

Decoration Day was a pathetic picture, and the recitation by Mrs. Prof. Miller was heartily enjoyed.

The Wedding Day was well rendered by Mrs. George Hymes as the bride and Miss Kate Becker and Miss Sisen as bridesmaids.

Following came the Fourth of July, patriotically represented by a group of thirteen Misses as the original States. Miss Nellie Lewis as the Goddess of Liberty. It was a genuine Fourth of July, with Fred Hagerman as Uncle Sam, and C. D. Van Duzer as orator. A number of small boys and the usual pyrotechnics.

Admission Day carried the house by storm and the tableau was one that aroused the enthusiasm of every Nevada. Mrs. Ralph Hawcroft made a beautiful Goddess of Liberty, Sam Hodgkinson was a success as Uncle Sam and Miss Bella Little an excellent Nevada, impersonating the Goddess of Liberty and Uncle Sam, standing to one side in an attitude of calmness.

Next came Thanksgiving, representing the old time Thanksgiving fasting season of prayer.

Lent and Easter was one of solemn beauty, and was represented by Agnes Bell, Julia Lewis, Mattie Snow, Mabel Stanaway, Marcia Bacon, Minnie Collins, who, kneeling at the foot of the cross with suppliant attitude, presented one of the prettiest pictures of the evening.

The exercises were well rendered and reflected great credit on the Woman's Guild.

OFFICIAL FOOD TESTS.

The United States and Canadian Governments Analyze the Baking Powders.

From Chicago Tribune.

The public is always responsive to suggestions about the food it eats. Great interest has been taken in the investigations made by the United States and Canadian Governments and by the different boards of health to show the purity or impurity of milk, baking powders, spices and other articles of daily use in the culinary department of our households.

Just now the subject of baking powder is claiming public attention. We all desire pure and wholesome bread, and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer any question that all the cheaper lower grades of baking powders contain either alum, lime or phosphatic acid.

The official analyses of the United States and Canadian Governments have heretofore been studied with interest and have pretty clearly established the facts upon this subject. The United States Government report gives the name of eighteen well-known powders, some of them advertised as pure cream of tartar baking powder, that contain alum.

The report shows that the Royal Baking Powder was found the highest in leavening strength, involving 106.6 cubic inches of gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream of tartar powders tested, and their average strength was 111.5 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Canadian Government investigations were of a still larger number of powders. The Royal Baking Powder was here also shown the purest and highest in strength, containing 129.32 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder. Nine other cream of tartar powders were tested, their average strength being reported to be 89 cubic inches of gas per ounce.

These figures are very instructive to the practical house-keeper. They indicate that the Royal Baking Powder goes more than 33 per cent further in use than the others, or is one-third more economical. Still more important than this, however, they prove that this popular article has been brought to the highest degree of purity—for to its superlative purity this superiority in strength is due—and consequently that by its use we may be insured the purest and most wholesome food.

The powders of lower strength are found to leave large amounts of inert matters in the food. This fact is emphasized by the report of the Ohio State Food Commissioner, who, while finding the Royal practically pure, found no other to contain less than 10 per cent. of inert or foreign matters.

The public interest in this question has likewise caused to be made investigations by our local authorities. Professor W. S. Haines of Rush Medical College, consulting chemist of the Chicago Board of Health, has found results similar to those reported by the national and Canadian authorities. Dr. Haines says:

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO.

I have recently obtained samples of the chief baking powders in the market, and have subjected them to careful chemical examination to determine their purity, wholesomeness and leavening power. As a result of my test I find the Royal baking powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurities, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is, therefore, not only the purest, but the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

WALTER S. HAINES, M. D.

Consulting Chemist, Chicago B'd of Health.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of Royal baking powder more than one half of all the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale this indicated for the Royal baking powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps a higher evidence than that already quoted of the superiority of this article, and its indisposableness to modern cookery.

THE AUSTRALIAN BALLOT.

How the System Worked in Nebraska.

A correspondent of the Sacramento News, who witnessed the practical workings of the Australian ballot system in Nebraska, says it is deserving of great commendation. Unless one were in the habit of noting every new street placard it would have been difficult to have told that an election was in progress. There were no ticket peddlers about the polls; no necessity existed for marking off the 100-foot limit, for absolutely no electioneering went on anywhere; no heels or rounders were near the polling place; there wasn't any crowd standing up to a convenient post hunting out register numbers; there wasn't anybody drunk—in short, a first-class funeral was simply not in it for quietness.

The polling places were usually inside rooms off from the street, and contained the officers of election and the appointed challengers. A special police officer was the sum and all of the crowd at the door. A voter came along, gazed a minute or so at the card of instruction, went in, gave his name, and, if registered and unchallenged, received a ticket, went into a compartment in a booth at the back, found there pen and ink, marked his ticket, folded it, handed it to the election officer, saw it voted and then went off down street about his business. Nobody knows how he voted, and he was given the opportunity to vote absolutely free and untrammelled. Having to mark a cross opposite each name he selected, was necessarily compelled to exercise thought and care in voting. There is no provision in the Nebraska law for voting a straight ticket, so that the voter's individual judgment must be exercised as to each candidate selected.

THE LODI FRATRICIDE.

It Resulted From a Dispute About Mining Property.

As heretofore stated in the JOURNAL, Alfred Welch, a mining man, was fatally shot by his brother at Lodi, a mining camp in the northwestern part of Nye county about 70 miles from Austin. Details of the fratricide are wanting, but it is supposed that the crime was committed by a younger brother of Welch, who is said to be an impetuous man, who thought the right way to maintain his rights was at the muzzle of a shotgun.

The Sacramento Bee says: "L. M. Hatfield, a Sacramento attorney, had occasion to go over to the Lodi Mine some months ago, representing Booth & Co., the L. Elkus Company, Timothy Guy Phelps and others, who had acquired a four-tenths interest in the property, which they were negotiating to sell. The bargain was finally consummated for $45,000, and the claimants, most of whom live here, got their money. The younger Welch brother sized up Hatfield cautiously from behind a row of Winchester. In some way he got the erroneous impression that Hatfield was there to jump the mine, and from his armory excitedly observed that if anybody wanted anything from him or the mine he knew where he could get it. While it is not known to a certainty which one of the brothers is the murderer, those who know them all say that the youngest of them killed Alfred."

"The Lodi Mine is a valuable property. It was shut down under an attachment for a year until last October."

The San Francisco Report says the merchants of San Francisco who are members of the California State Board of Trade have resolved to resign in a body. The cause is the pigeon-holing of resolutions favoring the work of the Traffic Association at the instance of W. H. Mills.

Free Water.

Parties in Reno having good wells or a place for one are throwing away money in paying water rates, when by a small investment plenty of pure water is at their command free of cost. One good well will supply water for several families, who by joining in the expense of erecting a wind-mill, tank, etc., can not only effect a saving in expenses, but be independent of a monopolizing water service. A visit to the Water Company's reservoir and ditch at times will convince the most skeptical that well water is the doctor's enemy, while surface water is the direct agent in bringing business to his office.

Constant pumping insures pure water from all good wells, hence the quality of well water cannot be judged properly from only occasional pumpings. Many unused wells would furnish plenty of pure, clear water if properly pumped.

Can you afford a pumping plant of your own? We will answer for you, Yes.

We are prepared to take contracts this Winter to erect any sized wind-mill plant required, with proper tank and service connection, furnishing them on a monthly installment plan, warranting all work and taking proper care of all mills so erected.

Plans and specifications free upon application. anti-freezing pumps and protected pipes insure equally as good Winter service as in Summer. For further particulars call on Electro-Plating.

H. A. Waldo is constructing, in connection with his local telegraph battery, an electro-plating apparatus, and will soon be ready to do all kinds of gold, silver, nickel and composition plating. He is now prepared to plate or replate spoons, knives and forks, etc., and make them as good and nice as new. The plating is no wash, but is a heavy coating of melted metal applied to the article, which is durable and will not scale off. Those having table knives, forks and spoons which they wish replated will do well to give him a trial.

Natural Soda Water Fountains.
In some parts of the Colorado desert water boils up from springs, which are surrounded by circular hillocks of carbonate of lime from four to eight feet in height, the material of which has been deposited from the flowing fluid. The latter is so highly charged with gas that it is very difficult to keep corks in bottles filled with it. It seems queer to find in such a desolate country real soda water fountains supplied by nature. Sirups are not offered to order, unfortunately. The lime deposited on the rocky shores was contributed by such springs as these, bubbling up from what was then the bottom of the lake.—Washington Star

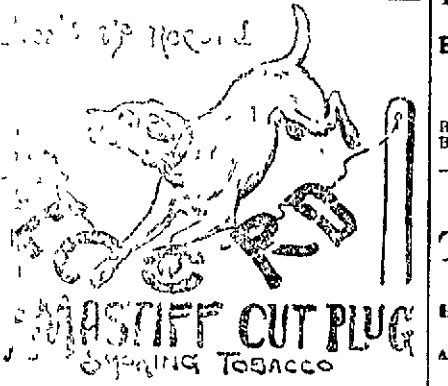

Fishing for Ducks.
In India an ingenious scheme is practiced for taking ducks on a line, which is attached at one end to a flexible stick stuck up in the mud, the other extremity having a double pointed needle of bone attached to it. The latter is baited by stringing upon it some grains of corn. Presently along comes Mr. Duck, swallows the needle and finds himself a captive the moment he tries to fly away. In old times the Cape Cod fishermen depended largely for bait upon the sea fowl they took on their voyages. To catch them they threw out fishing lines with hooks on the ends, to which were attached chunks of cod liver. The latter floated because of the oil they contained, and murrets, gulls and other birds swallowing them were quickly pulled in, skinned and chopped up.—Interview in Washington Star.

Printing by Dog Power.
Printing machines are usually driven by steam or gas motors, but the machine which prints a certain newspaper in America is run by dog power. A large wheel about ten feet in diameter and two in width is connected with the driving rigger of the machine by means of a belt; strips of wood, for foothold, are placed a foot apart on the inside of the wheel, where Joe, the journalistic dog, walks his weary round, and thus causes the wheel to revolve. Joe has run the press for about five years, and has faithfully earned his board and lodging, but it is now about time for him to feel ill and "turn it up," being unable to continue turning it round.—London Tit-Bits.

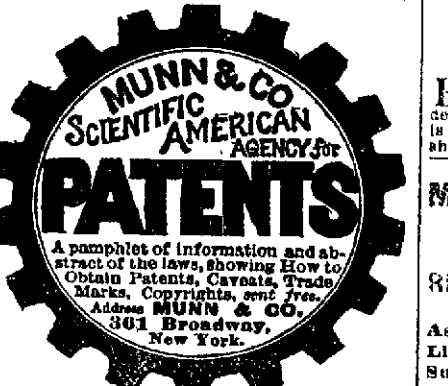

The Lake in the Great Desert.
It is estimated that nine-tenths of the water from the Colorado river is flowing into Salton sea, and the winter floods will greatly augment the volume of water, which may seek a gulf outlet. A lake 150 miles long and 200 feet deep is predicted.—San Francisco Bulletin.

TO ASSIST NATURE IN REMOVING Poisons from the body is the great mission of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC. Microbi cannot exist in the blood when SSS is properly taken, as it promptly forces them out, and cures the patient. It has relieved thousands in a few days who had suffered for years.
Mr. F. Z. NELSON, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Fremont, Nebraska, suffered for years with SCROFULA, and it continued to grow worse in spite of all treatment. Finally, Four Bottles of SSS cured him. He writes: "Words are inadequate to express my gratitude and favorable opinion of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC."
